The Good Will-Hinckley program offers a safe, stable and structured environment for young people to live, learn and grow. We accept 11-21 year-olds of every social, economic and cultural background who have experienced emotional or behavioral struggles, learning problems or family strife.

Our program is a truly unique offering of services. We are concerned with our young peoples' total well-being: the intellectual, emotional, physical, spiritual and social aspects of life. Every applicant is thoroughly evaluated so an individualized program of education, counseling, physical activity; relationship building and social interaction can be created.

The Good Will-Hinckley campus is located on 2,400 acres of rolling hills, woods, farmland and river frontage in beautiful central Maine. Students receive education on-site in a fully accredited school. All faculties maintain either a regular or special education certification. The small class size, averaging six to eight students, allows us to individualize instruction.

Good Will-Hinckley has a clinical team that consists of 12 licensed staff members, including medical staff. The clinical team provides individual, family and group therapy based on individual needs. Planning teams meet weekly to address the progress and the needs of the youth and is where many of the treatment decisions are discussed
