Services: In addition to its credentials for service excellence, Correctional Services Corporation has a reputation for being able to respond rapidly to meet government's emergency needs. FDJJ's District 14, when faced with a facility but no operator beginning July 1, 1995, contacted CSC to assume the management and operation of this facility. CSC was required to have all services on line in less than 30 days from the time the contract was signed. The facility serves committed male adolescents. The residential component is followed by community reentry programming. CSC delivers programming and all other services to the three classification groups described below.

- Serious habitual offender: 30-bed program, providing nine to twelve months of secure intensive residential treatment for youth who are assessed as maximum risk.

Age range: 14-21

- Intensive halfway house: 20-bed program providing six to nine months of intensive secure residential treatment.

Age range: 14-18

- Halfway house: 24-house program providing four to six months of residential treatment, to moderate risk youth.

Age range: 14-18
