Twentieth Anniversary

THE NEW ERA: HYDE ALUMNI

by Joseph W. Gauld

As we approach our 20th Anniversary milestone, I sense we are entering a new era of Alumni leadership, both inside and outside the gates of Hyde. The Alumni, now more than half the faculty, provide most of the Senior Faculty leadership. Returning Alumni indicate Hyde's profound affect on their lives; it is hard to find a former Hyde student who does not feel intensely about his or her Hyde experience, both positively and negatively.

The Board of Governors believe the future Hyde School can be of major influence in our society, particularly in industry. American Business is emphasizing more and more a need for leaders well trained in terms of character, personal relationships and initiative, the very qualities that root the Hyde philosophy. There are also signs that indicate Hyde Alumni are beginning to provide leadership and influence in our society. It could be an exciting age for us, and a time when closer bonds could be mutually supportive for all.

I hope to see many of you as Hyde celebrates her 20th Anniversary!

THE MAYFLOWER COMES TO BATH

When asked about the 20th Anniversary Celebration, Tony Rea '69 had the following to say, "It will be a spectacular event comparable to the landing of the Mayflower, more profound than the landing on the moon and exceeding the excitement of a ticker-tape parade in New York City."

You won't want to miss it. If you haven't made your reservations yet for Alumni Weekend, call the Alumni Office immediately!!

CHRIS'S CORNER

by Chris Richards '72

I watched the Hyde Varsity Football Team last fall in its final game of the season against Hebron. Hebron won the game 48-34 but that doesn't begin to tell the story. At the start of the fourth period we were down 48-18. The final score only exemplified the guts these kids showed. They didn't win a game last season. But winning and growing don't always go hand in hand.

I'm reminded of a game I saw Hyde play in 1970. Our opponent, Cardinal Cushing Academy, was undefeated and possessed the kind of size and speed coaches dream of. We knew going into the game that we had no chance of winning. Our goal was to make them know they'd been in a game with Hyde. No team had held Cardinal Cushing under fifty points all year long. Most teams would have rolled over knowing they couldn't win. Hyde showed character and guts in a no-win situation. The final score was 28-0. Even though we lost, the coaches, players and fans were ecstatic. To us we had won by playing the best team Hyde probably has ever faced and giving them all they could handle. I'll never forget their players being furious at the fact that they only won 28-0 over puny little Hyde School.

There will be no quick fix solutions to the problems with Hyde. It will take time and patience but the school is on the right track. Hyde reminds me of a hurt boxer, in incredible pain at times, but refusing to go down.

Dear Hyde:

After reading the most recent newsletter, I felt I wanted to reply. Although I only live in Portland I have no car, therefore trying to get up to Bath can be quite difficult... so, here I am — visiting via letter.

Hyde, as I grow older, means increasingly more to me. My Hyde education, while I would be cautious to endorse the entirety of my experience, was an extremely important segment of my development. The opportunities I had in athletics, "America's Spirit" (people still can't believe it when I tell them all I've done) and community action, have remained steadfast — a foundation to build life on. The thrill of that first Hyde Invitational I attended as a Student at Camden-Rockport High, as I saw the dedication and zeal those 'Hyde-ies' had was the reason I came to Hyde. I now very much consider Hyde and what it stands for, as family.

I've been very concerned the last few years about the school's future. Coming to Alumni Weekend, 1984, I could barely believe that this Hyde was the same Hyde I had graduated from. The Mansion we had seen chartered in my summer school of 1976 was a veritable slothouse — chairs, rugs, crooked pictures, tacks in the walls, unkept, untidy. It really hurt to see a place we meticulously kept clean and held school meetings on the steps being treated with such ill respect. The diploma I worked for seemed to mean little and the drunken younger students had no connection with our efforts as really valuing our relationship to one another over the years.

Well, Joe — I just hope Hyde really is on its way again. Being a student, I really have no money to give back — but I wanted to write and tell you that Hyde is important. My life has been forever altered by that place and those who shared my time there.

God bless you all —
Thanks for listening —
Tamara Lunn

ALUMNI BOARD OF DIRECTORS REPORT

The leadership weekend held at Hyde on October 18-20 was an extremely positive experience that left everyone involved feeling good about the direction Hyde is heading in. On campus for this weekend were the Board of Governors, the Advisory Board and the Alumni Board. The spirit and enthusiasm for buckling down and getting things done gives me great cause for hope about the future of the school.

The newly formed Advisory Board has undertaken the formidable tasks of long range planning and the articulation of the Hyde concept/philosophy for future generations of Hyde students, faculty and administration. The hope is that this will provide the framework that will keep Hyde on the right track for good. The Alumni Board has chosen to tackle a variety of challenges including the coordination of the 20th year celebration activities and the yearly evaluation of the school and its accomplishments. It is also our plan to get more Alumni exposed to the students to help pass along the essence of Hyde. I think we have firmly established our intention to serve as the conscience of the school, with the diverse experiences and perspectives we share being a valuable resource as a system of checks and balances.

Excitement is probably the best word to describe the feeling I have about where the school is going. The students and faculty are confronting issues that have been neglected in recent years, and the spark that is there is being actively fanned. I don't think it will be long before we begin to see a bright glow from the familiar spirit.

I urge you to plan on attending the 20th anniversary celebration activities this spring, as it marks a formidable landmark for Hyde, especially with the recent turbulence that is now behind us.

Also, please think about your contribution to the Annual Fund this year, as the school needs generous donations, but more importantly, it needs to know that Alumni are behind it in numbers, as the students and faculty push towards the goals they have set.

I look forward to seeing you at Hyde this year.

ADMINISTRATIVE OPENING

There is an administrative opening, preferably for an alumnus, for the position of Assistant Director of Admissions/Alumni Office Staff. This position would entail traveling, extensive phone work with prospective families, publications, organizing alumni/alumni parent events and involvement with the present Hyde families. Anyone interested should contact either Mrs. Laurie Hurd or Mrs. Claire Grant at Hyde School.

ON THE LIGHT SIDE...

HYDE: THE SECOND TIME AROUND

by Malcolm Gauld '72

You can't go home again? Thomas Wolfe's assertion had always seemed sensible to me. Suffice it to say that we certainly had no interest in challenging its legitimacy when Laura and I left Hyde's employ in August of 1982. At that time we regarded our exit to be of a permanent nature. I guess we should have known that you can always count on Hyde School to foul up your plans.

So, here we are. What's it like the second time around? We're all just trying to get our act together, keep it rolling down the road and avoid as many "collisions" as possible. So far so good. Are we having fun yet? Frankly, we've all been so consumed by our efforts that we haven't come up for air yet. Hopefully that opportunity will present itself in late May and we'll be able to spend some time with all of you as the school says au revoir (we still teach French) to its teen years. For many this may be a happy good-bye. It's been a tough adolescence! It almost seems that Hyde's coming of age parallels that of many of its students. Oh well, time to move ahead.

Upon first impression I thought the children of the 80's were a new breed.

I remember our first soccer trip to Hebron when I looked down the aisle of the bus to observe a sea of heads bobbing up and down at different intervals in response to the private tunes made available by Sony Walkman. I contrasted this with my student days when we were entertained (?) by the golden throat of Craig Mael '71 and with my rookie teaching days when Tommy Baez '78 and Ray Stewart '79 were the Emperor and Dictator of the bus. Two questions surfaced. Am I just getting old? Am I now on "the far side" of the generation gap? Upon closer inspection, I've discovered that I must answer the first question in the affirmative but would also conclude that these kids aren't much different than we were. My answer to the second question? I'm holding out on that one. Let's just say that I've concluded that I always thought Craig Mael's voice was bad news and I've gone out and bought my own walk-man for bus rides.

Come on up! Look forward to seeing you, spouses and siblings at the twentieth.

Hyde welcomes the addition of Robert Cotter, who left the hills of North Carolina with his wife Mary Louise to join us. Bob has an extensive background in education, both as a teacher and administrator. He has assumed the duties of Business Manager.

Twentieth Anniversary

by Joseph W. Gauld

As we approach our 20th Anniversary milestone, I sense we are entering a new era of Alumni leadership, both inside and outside the gates of Hyde. The Alumni, now more than half the faculty, provide most of the Senior Faculty leadership. Returning Alumni indicate Hyde's profound affect [sic] on their lives; it is hard to find a former Hyde student who does not feel intensely about his or her Hyde experience, both positively and negatively.

The Board of Governors believe the future Hyde School can be of major influence in our society, particularly in industry. American Business is emphasizing more and more a need for leaders well trained in terms of character, personal relationships and initiative, the very qualities that root the Hyde philosophy. There are also signs that indicate Hyde Alumni are beginning to provide leadership and influence in our society. It could be an exciting age for us, and a time when closer bonds could be mutually supportive for all.

I hope to see many of you as Hyde celebrates her 20th Anniversary!

THE MAYFLOWER COMES TO BATH

When asked about the 20th Anniversary Celebration, Tony Rea '69 had the following to say, "It will be a spectacular event comparable to the landing of the Mayflower, more profound than the landing on the moon and exceeding the excitement of a ticker-tape parade in New York City."

You won't want to miss it. If you haven't made your reservations yet for Alumni Weekend, call the Alumni Office immediately!!

CHRIS'S CORNER

by Chris Richards '72

I watched the Hyde Varsity Football Team last fall in its final game of the season against Hebron. Hebron won the game 48-34 but that doesn't begin to tell the story. At the start of the fourth period we were down 48-18. The final score only exemplified the guts these kids showed. They didn't win a game last season. But winning and growing don't always go hand in hand.

I'm reminded of a game I saw Hyde play in 1970. Our opponent, Cardinal Cushing Academy, was undefeated and possessed the kind of size and speed coaches dream of. We knew going into the game that we had no chance of winning. Our goal was to make them know they'd been in a game with Hyde. No team had held Cardinal Cushing under fifty points all year long. Most teams would have rolled over knowing they couldn't win. Hyde showed character and guts in a no-win situation. The final score was 28-0. Even though we lost, the coaches, players and fans were ecstatic. To us we had won by playing the best team Hyde probably has ever faced and giving them all they could handle. I'll never forget their players being furious at the fact that they only won 28-0 over puny little Hyde School.

There will be no quick fix solutions to the problems with Hyde. It will take time and patience but the school is on the right track. Hyde reminds me of a hurt boxer, in incredible pain at times, but refusing to go down.

Dear Hyde:

After reading the most recent newsletter, I felt I wanted to reply. Although I only live in Portland I have no car, therefore trying to get up to Bath can be quite difficult... so, here I am visiting via letter.

Hyde, as I grow older, means increasingly more to me. My Hyde education, while I would be cautious to endorse the entirety of my experience, was an extremely important segment of my development. The opportunities I had in athletics, "America's Spirit" (people still can't believe it when I tell them all I've done) and community action, have remained steadfast foundation to build life on. The thrill of that first Hyde Invitational I attended as a Student at Camden-Rockport High, as I saw the dedication and zeal those 'Hyde-ies' had was the reason I came to Hyde. I now very much consider Hyde and what it stands for, as family.

I've been very concerned the last few years about the school's future. Coming to Alumni Weekend, 1984, I could barely believe that this Hyde was the same Hyde I had graduated from. The Mansion we had seen charred in my summer school of 1976 was a veritable slophouse chairs, rugs, crooked pictures, tacks in the walls, unkept, untidy. It really hurt to see a place we meticulously kept clean and held school meetings on the steps being treated with such ill respect. The diploma I worked for seemed to mean little and the drunken younger students had no connection with our efforts as really valuing our relationship to one another over the years. Well, Joe I just hope Hyde really is on its way again. Being a student, I really have no money to give back but I wanted to write and tell you that Hyde is important. My life has been forever altered by that place and those who shared my time there.

God bless you all

Thanks for listening

ALUMNI BOARD OF DIRECTORS REPORT

The leadership weekend held at Hyde on October 18-20 was an extremely positive experience that left everyone involved feeling good about the direction Hyde is heading in. On campus for this weekend were the Board of Governors, the Advisory Board and the Alumni Board. The spirit and enthusiasm for buckling down and getting things done gives me great cause for hope about the future of the school.

The newly formed Advisory Board has undertaken the formidable tasks of long range planning and the articulation of the Hyde concept/philosophy for future generations of Hyde students, faculty and administration. The hope is that this will provide the framework that will keep Hyde on the right track for good. The Alumni Board has chosen to tackle a variety of challenges including the coordination of the 20th year celebration activities and the yearly evaluation of the school and its accomplishments. It is also our plan to get more Alumni exposed to the students to help pass along the essence of Hyde. I think we have firmly established our intention to serve as the conscience of the school, with the diverse experiences and perspectives we share being a valuable resource as a system of checks and balances.

Excitement is probably the best word to describe the feeling I have about where the school is going. The students and faculty are confronting issues that have been neglected in recent years, and the spark that is there is being actively fanned. I don't think it will be long before we begin to see a bright glow from the familiar spirit.

I urge you to plan on attending the 20th anniversary celebration activities this spring, as it marks a formidable landmark for Hyde, especially with the recent turbulence that is now behind us.

Also, please think about your contribution to the Annual Fund this year, as the school needs generous donations, but more importantly, it needs to know that Alumni are behind it in numbers, as the students and faculty push towards the goals they have set. I look forward to seeing you at Hyde this year.

ON THE LIGHT SIDE...

HYDE: THE SECOND TIME AROUND

by Malcolm Gauld '72

You can't go home again? Thomas Wolfe's assertion [sic] had always seemed sensible to me. Suffice it to say that we certainly had no interest in challenging its legitimacy when Laura and I left Hyde's employ in August of 1982. At that time we regarded our exit to be of a permanent nature. I guess we should have known that you can always count on Hyde School to foul up your plans.

So, here we are. What's it like the second time around? We're all just trying to get our act together, keep it rolling down the road and avoid as many "collisions" as possible. So far so good. Are we having fun yet? Frankly, we've all been so consumed by our efforts that we haven't come up for air yet. Hopefully that opportunity will present itself in late May and we'll be able to spend some time with all of you as the school says au revoir (we still teach French) to its teen years. For many this may be a happy good-bye. It's been a tough adolescence! It almost seems that Hyde's coming of age parallels that of many of its students. Oh well, time to move ahead.

Upon first impression I thought the children of the 80's were a new breed.

I remember our first soccer trip to Hebron when I looked down the aisle of the bus to observe a sea of heads bobbing up and down at different intervals in response to the private tunes made available by Sony Walkman. I contrasted this with my student days when we were entertained (?) by the golden throat of Craig Mael '71 and with my rookie teaching days when Tommy Baez '78 and Ray Stewart '79 were the Emperor and Dictator of the bus. Two questions surfaced. Am I just getting old? Am I now on "the far side" of the generation gap? Upon closer inspection, I've discovered that I must answer the first question in the affirmative but would also conclude that these kids aren't much different than we were. My answer to the second question? I'm holding out on that one. Let's just say that I've concluded that I always thought Craig Mael's voice was bad news and I've gone out and bought my own walk-man for bus rides. Come on up! Look forward to seeing you, spouses and siblings at the twentieth.
