

HYDE BOOKS

HOW TO CREATE A CHARACTER CULTURE

The founder of Hyde, Joseph Gauld, an educator with a 40-year career spent defining character education has written a textbook to revolutionize American schools.

Hyde: Preparation for Life (Hyde Prep) outlines the growth process that has been developed at Hyde schools and in Hyde families during the past 38 years. It explains the core belief that each of us has a unique potential that defines our larger purpose in life. Once committed to the development of that potential, the book asserts, individuals, families, and schools and communities, will experience profound change in their lives.

Hyde Prep walks the reader through the various elements of the Hyde philosophy. Each chapter contains comprehensive information as well as personal anecdotes, inspirational pieces, and journal writing guides that enable the reader to internalize the concepts addressed.

Every Hyde family—current and alumni—as well as prospective families, and individuals interested in learning more about building a character culture should add Hyde Prep to their reading list.

Order:

Hyde: Preparation for Life for $35

Mail check to:

Hyde Preparation For Life • 616 High Street • Bath, ME 04530

Or click here to E-mail Julie Greenlaw.

WWW.HYDE.EDU

Other Hyde Books In Print

The Biggest Job® we'll ever have—The Hyde School Program for Character-based Education and Parenting.

—Laura and Malcolm Gauld

The Biggest Job® we'll ever have is based on 10 core beliefs—the 10 Priorities—which serve as a map and compass for parents and educators as they embark on the journey of character development for themselves, their students, and their families.

Order The Biggest Job for $26.00.

Character First

—Joseph Gauld

Character First documents the incredible process that is the Hyde School education. Written by school's founder, the book looks at the components of Hyde's educational philosophy and chronicles the triumphs and struggles of its students, families, and faculty members.

Order Character First for $19.95.

Read the reviews for The Biggest Job® book:

"From my fifty years of studying leadership, one single factor stands out: character. It is only character that counts in leadership and maturity. The Hyde Schools know how it's learned and developed. The Gauld's book incarnates with eloquent and moving language how Hyde achieves its miracles."

- Warren Bennis, Distinguished Professor of Business, USC, Author of Managing the Dream

"The Gaulds have taken the Hyde School's program for character-based education and written an accessible manual. When parents work on their own character, children are inspired to follow. Any parent eager to tackle the "biggest job" should consider this book required reading."

- Charlene C. Giannetti, coauthor of The Roller-Coaster Years, Parenting 911, and Cliques

"This book is a treasure trove of wisdom and practical know-how for both parents and educators. This book comes from the heads, hearts, and guts of the people who have built one of America's great schools."

- Kevin Ryan, Ph.D. Professor and Director Emeritus, The Center for the Advancement of Ethics and Character

HYDE

Education Character Family

Hyde Boarding Schools

Bath, ME: 207-443-5584

Woodstock, CT: 860-963-9096

Hyde Public Schools

Washington, DC: 202-529-4400

New Haven, CT: 203-946-8121

WWW.HYDE.EDU