YSI purchased and assumed operating control of Promise House in October, 1995. Promise House is a group care agency located in Phoenix, Arizona that cares for abused, abandoned, neglected, and dependent children in need of long-term care. Seven to eight children are placed in homes designed to create a surrogate family where Judeo-Christian values are modeled and taught.

Promise House is licensed to care for 55 youngsters, infants through 18 year olds, in seven group home sites. The homes are located in community-based neighborhoods and the school age children attend public schools. Individualized treatment plans and goals are prepared for each resident and tutoring is provided for all children. A GED program is available for adolescents not attending public school.

Additional activities include teen mother and baby programs, recreation and sports programs, and a World of Work program that teaches job readiness skills for community employment.
