Who Do We Serve?

Students accepted to Falcon Ridge Ranch are most commonly young women 12-18 who exhibit emotional and/or behavioral problems that prevent them from functioning adequately in their home or community. Young women are accepted only after a thorough evaluation is performed to assess their needs and determine the most appropriate level of care. Falcon Ridge Ranch does not restrict admission based on race, religion, cultural background. We are a place where hope is restored, emotional wounds are healed, and troubled girls get back what was lost. Falcon Ridge Ranch is a safe place for young women to heal, and families to reunite.
