- Survivor Accounts – Restraint

  In the Diamond Ranch Academy Contract it clearly states that the employees intend to, within their own judgement of cause, restrain the child, as a means of "discipline". Diamond Ranch Academy takes no responsibility for the danger to health of the student in the use of these methods, and should a child be injured or in Read more »

- Survivor Statement – Samantha

  I was there for 18 months, Oct. 2008-April 2010. I was there when they called the first level "homeless" and only fed us rice and lentils mixed with food from the day befores dinner. Because I was vegetarian I usually only had undercooked carrots/or green beans, and rice and lentils. I spent a lot of Read more »

Welcome to Diamond Ranch Academy Survivors

This site is created by Survivors of Diamond Ranch Academy, a "therapeutic" treatment program in Hurricane, Utah. Our stories are dedicated to the parents of children that are either currently being held in DRA or are considering placement for their child. Our message is clear; Diamond Ranch Academy is NOT a legitimate treatment facility and their methods are unethical, illegal and abusive.
Please, DO NOT send your child to Diamond Ranch Academy.
