THE TRUTH:

All segregated congregate care providers, including those on our watch-list, are welcome to contact us to correct any information or provide additional data that may the whole truth to the public. We've found in many cases where this offer has been abused or resulted in revealing additional basis for our concerns. For some examp http://www.heal-online.org/tcfl.htm, http://www.heal-online.org/bolthouse.htm and http://www.heal-online.org/abundant2.htm. Now, we are willing to look at the fi questions or require documentation backing up any claims. We do verify licensing, academic backgrounds, and other qualifications when investigating and research watch-list to assist consumers seeking additional information on such programs or victims requiring assistance with getting corroborating evidence of their claims. make sure the information we provide is accurate and verified and cite our sources. In the event any information we've posted is in error, we're happy to make a corr information on how such requests are handled and have been resolved historically, see: http://www.heal-online.org/requests.htm.

HEAL does not support segregated congregate care for many reasons which include that many such facilities are abusive, exploitative, fraudulent, and lack effective result of fraudulent misrepresentation coupled with the ignorance of those seeking to enroll loved ones in such facilities, programs, schools, or centers without a vali involuntarily. In the United States such involuntary placements done without a court order are apparently illegal as they either violate the Americans with Disabilitie integration requirement or due process rights of those involuntarily placed. Now, in regards to parents, in the United States parents have the right to waive their own rights of their minor children. See http://www.heal-online.org/legalarguments.htm for more information. Now, most facilities on our watch list include waivers, ind sworn statements parents must sign assuring the program that the parents have the right to make the placement involuntarily and without due process in a segregated environment, however, California and federal prosecutors as well as settled law appears to suggest that is not the case. In fact, in the David Taylor case found at http online.org/provocases.htm, Taylor sued Provo Canyon School and his mother as co-defendants. His mother was found liable for 75% of the damages awarded to Ta multiple complaints including false imprisonment, while the program was found only 25% liable because the mother owed a duty of due diligence to investigate any entrust care of her child and she failed to do so.

Now, HEAL opposes segregated congregate care and we find most placements are happening illegally in the USA which if the youth understood their rights would r outcomes for the parents, particularly when they don't exercise good judgment and support the fraud and abuse rather than their own children when they need remed HEAL supports all victims of fraud and abuse in seeking remedies at law for any crimes or torts committed against them. And, that's true whether or not the progra USA.

HEAL has a 5 point argument against segregated congregate care we'd like you to consider:

a. Segregated care is unconstitutional and a civil rights violation. It is only permissible if a person is unable to survive independent of an institutional environment. the HEAL Report at https://youtu.be/C4NzhZc4P0A. Or, see: http://www.ada.gov/olmstead/ which includes in part: "United States v. Florida – 1:12-cv-60460 - 7, 2016, the United States filed an Opposition to the State of Florida's Motion for Partial Summary Judgment. In the Motion, the State had asked the Court to rule, c that the United States could not recover damages for unnecessarily institutionalized children to whom the State had been deliberately indifferent."

b. Institutionalization is always dehumanizing and coercive. Institutionalization always harms the institutionalized and deprives them of protected civil rights. Dr. l Psychiatry Professor at Columbia University's School of Medicine (Ivy League) explains this in detail at http://changingminds.org/disciplines/sociology/articles/inst
"Many institutions, from prisons to monasteries to asylums, deliberately want to control and manage their inmates such that they conform and do not cause problems environments, many of the institutionalization methods may be found, albeit in more moderated form (although the psychological effect can be equally devastating).

c. Institutionalization is not in the best interest of children. Institutions are not ever better for a child than living with a loving family. Source:
http://www.unicef.org/cambodia/12681_23295.html

d. Reform schools, residential treatment programs, and other segregated congregate care settings have been shown to be ineffective and harmful. Best source on thi

e. Boarding Schools, even the "good ones", result in a form of social death, isolation, and cause both anxiety and depression. Therefore, it is clearly not in the best i subjected to those environments. Sources: http://www.theguardian.com/books/2015/jun/08/boarding-school-syndrome-joy-schaverien-review and

Beyond the above arguments against segregated congregate care, we have reports from the NIH, Surgeon General, Yale University Studies, and much more showing behavior modification are damaging, harmful, and ineffective. You can request these documents via e-mail. In addition, for such programs offering academic servic diplomas, certifications, or the like, it is important to check to see if it is a diploma mill with no accredited academic services. Please see article: "Avoiding Scams:
Know" for important information on how to avoid education/training scams.
