Provo Canyon School (PCS) is dedicated to providing an outstanding residential and academic treatment setting. PCS has a proven track record of over 40 years, helping youth who are manifesting emotional, behavioral, and learning difficulties and have been unresponsive to previous residential placements, out-patient counseling, substance abuse treatment, and alternative academic treatment settings. Provo Canyon School offers individualized therapeutic treatment and academic instruction through the following specialized services:

- Gender Specific Boy's Residential Treatment Program
- Gender Specific Girl's Residential Treatment Program
- Gender Specific Intensive Residential Treatment Program (separate boy's and girl's program)
- Older Elementary Age Residential Treatment Program (ages 8-11)
- Latency -Age Residential Treatment Program (ages 11-13)

Provo Canyon School is a certified Psychiatric Residential Treatment Facility (PRTF) with two full-time psychiatrists and twenty-four hour nursing support. Provo Canyon School's academics offer over 140 courses each year in a fully accredited Elementary (3rd through 6th), Junior High (7-9th) and High School. Our highly structured and supportive living environment involves a busy schedule; including academic study, athletics, clubs, work training, and outdoor activities. Our continuum of care offers a variety of residential attention, each with its specific formal therapy; individual, family, recreation and group therapies by Certified Clinical Staff. Some of these include:

- Dialectical Behavior Therapy (DBT) fully accredited
- Neuro / Bio-Feedback
- Drug & Alcohol Treatment Program
