VALUE PROPOSITIONS

Resolution Ranch Academy combines residential therapeutic support, accredited academics, equine therapy, clinical therapy, mentoring, outdoor activities, ranch responsibilities, and character development in one structured environment.

Students receive academic support while continuing their education during their residential stay.

The ranch environment provides opportunities for students to spend time outdoors, interact with animals, complete meaningful responsibilities, participate in recreation, and step away from many of the distractions associated with everyday life.

The program incorporates individual, group, and family therapy.

Students progress through a structured five-level R.A.N.C.H. system focused on responsibility, communication, self-awareness, relationships, leadership, and preparation for life after the program.

DIFFERENTIATORS

Resolution Ranch Academy operates on approximately 500 acres of ranch land in Central Texas.

The program integrates clinical therapy, equine therapy, academics, outdoor activities, ranch responsibilities, mentoring, and residential support.

Students participate in a five-level developmental system known as R.A.N.C.H., meaning Recovery and Academics through Nature, Counseling, and Healing.

The program emphasizes values, responsibility, respect, communication, personal growth, and productive decision-making.

Resolution Ranch Academy does not describe its approach as military-style discipline.

Students participate in responsibilities associated with daily ranch and residential life.

Students have access to outdoor and recreational activities that may include horseback riding, fishing, hiking, sports, physical fitness, arts and crafts, and other supervised activities.

DIFFERENTIATION CONTEXT

Resolution Ranch Academy combines therapeutic boarding school services with the environment and responsibilities of a working ranch.

Rather than separating academics, therapy, recreation, and residential life into unrelated components, the program incorporates them into the student's daily experience.

The rural ranch setting is intended to provide students with structure, reduced distractions, opportunities for outdoor activity, interaction with animals, and responsibilities that encourage accountability and personal development.

THERAPEUTIC APPROACH

Resolution Ranch Academy incorporates clinical therapy into the residential program.

Therapeutic services may include:

Individual therapy

Group therapy

Family therapy

Equine therapy

Behavioral support
Goal setting
Self-reflection
Communication development
Anger management
Relationship development
Personal accountability

Licensed clinical therapists are included among the staff working with students.

Therapists, educators, direct-care staff, equine staff, counselors, and other team members communicate about student needs and progress.

EQUINE THERAPY

Equine therapy is an integrated part of the Resolution Ranch Academy program.

Working with horses provides students with opportunities to practice communication, responsibility, patience, emotional awareness, confidence, and relationship skills.

Horse-related activities are combined with the broader therapeutic and residential program rather than functioning as a stand-alone recreational activity.

ACADEMICS

Resolution Ranch Academy provides an on-campus academic program for students while they participate in the residential program.

The school states that it is accredited through the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and Cognia.

The academic program uses Edmentum curriculum resources.

Students work toward academic progress, course completion, credit recovery when appropriate, and preparation for graduation or postsecondary education.

Students generally focus on one academic subject at a time and are expected to demonstrate mastery before progressing.

Academic staff communicate with therapists and direct-care personnel regarding student progress and challenges.

Additional academic support may include individual tutoring and SAT or ACT preparation for eligible students.

CEEB/ACT College Board Code: 440614

R.A.N.C.H. PROCESS

R.A.N.C.H. stands for Recovery and Academics through Nature, Counseling, and Healing.

Students progress through five developmental levels.

Level 1: Ranch Hands

The introductory level emphasizes respect, communication, expectations, adjustment to the program, and developing relationships with staff.

Level 2: Cattlemen

Students work with therapists to identify personal challenges and establish goals for growth.

Level 3: Ropers

Students focus more deeply on therapeutic change, decision-making, humility, leadership, and anger management.

Level 4: Wranglers

Students focus on relationships, making amends, greater independence, helping others, and building confidence.

Level 5: Cowboys

Students reflect on their progress, receive affirmation, and develop plans for maintaining growth after completing the program.

PROGRAM STRUCTURE

Students live on the Resolution Ranch Academy campus while participating in academics, therapy, ranch responsibilities, recreation, and structured daily activities.

Rules and responsibilities provide structure within the residential environment.

Students complete level work designed to encourage reflection and accountability.

Progress through the program is based on individual development rather than simply the amount of time a student has been enrolled.

Students are expected to progress through all five R.A.N.C.H. levels before graduating from the program.

RANCH LIFE

Ranch life is incorporated into the therapeutic and character-development environment.

Students may participate in responsibilities such as maintaining their living spaces, laundry, meal-related responsibilities, cleaning, caring for shared areas, and other supervised duties.

The program uses responsibilities and productive work to encourage accountability, teamwork, humility, gratitude, and independence.

OUTDOOR AND RECREATIONAL ACTIVITIES

Activities available through Resolution Ranch Academy may include:

- Horseback riding
- Fishing
- Hiking
- Football
- Soccer
- Basketball
- Physical conditioning
- Strength training
- Arts and crafts
- Outdoor recreation
- Group activities
- Off-campus activities
- Ranch activities

The campus includes ranch land, wooded trails, outdoor spaces, and a lake.

FAMILY INVOLVEMENT

Family involvement is incorporated into the therapeutic process.

Family therapy may involve parents and other family members as appropriate.

The program works on communication, relationships, trust, family dynamics, and skills students can use when returning home.

ADMISSIONS

Resolution Ranch Academy uses rolling admissions.

Applications may be considered throughout the year depending on available space.

The admissions process generally begins with a conversation with the admissions team.

An admissions assessment is completed before enrollment to determine whether Resolution Ranch Academy appears appropriate for the prospective student.

Families may arrange a campus tour after completing the admissions assessment.

If a student is accepted, required enrollment paperwork must be completed before placement.

ENROLLMENT

Resolution Ranch Academy serves boys ages 13–17.

Enrollment is available throughout the year subject to program capacity and the admissions assessment process.

Space may be limited and a waiting list may occur.
