Reena Curl, AMFT Therapist

Reena Curl is an Associate Marriage and Family Therapist. Reena received a Bachelors Degree in Psychology and worked in the area of residential treatment with children from a variety of situations. Later Reena completed a degree in Elementary Education and received a 1-8 teaching endorsement that led to her completing her Special Education Degree and becoming a Special Educator for 13 years in the Washington County School District.

Reena returned to her background in psychology when returning to complete her masters degree in Marriage and Family Therapy in 2017. She has received additional training in the area of Sand Tray and EMDR and continues to look for opportunities to build her therapeutic skills to continue to challenge and engage the children she works with. Reena has been with Three Points Center since 2016 and champions their vision for adopted children.

Reena is married to David Curl and they have three grown children.

Kimberlee Carver-Wilson Program Director

Kimberlee Carver-Wilson has always taken special interest in those who become marginalized in society. She loves Three Points Center and has been involved since TPC was founded over five years ago. Kimberlee has served in all capacities in the group living department at Three Points. She began as a direct care staff, then group leader, supervisor, and then to group living director. She changed her career track to reach a lifelong goal to complete a master's degree in Marriage and Family Therapy. Kimberlee is trained in Dyadic Developmental Psychotherapy (DDP), Brainspotting, Emotion and Solution focused therapies, attachment training, some DBT and CBT, and experiential therapy.

Kimberlee is Canadian by birth and maintains dual residency. She has worked as the Director at an assisted living center for disabled adults and also was employed at the Disability Law Center as a paralegal for several years. She was also involved in caring for youth in custody in her own home.

Kimberlee plays piano, reads, creates art crafts, completes home improvement projects, and loves soccer. Her greatest joy is being the mother to three children. You can always look to Kimberlee to find someone who is loyal, cares deeply, and will seek to brighten your day.

Our Administrative Staff

Dr. LuAnne Forrest Executive Academic Director

Dr. LuAnne Forrest has spent the past twenty years in educational administration. LuAnne has a doctoral degree from UNLV and a Masters Degree from Utah State University. Her research on school improvement in the secondary education environment has been used in administration preparation programs throughout the nation and her doctoral research won the Distinguished Dissertation award from the National Council of Professors of Educational Administration. Dr. Forrest's district level administration has included Director of Curriculum and Professional Development and Director of Student Services. As Coordinator of Special Programs she oversaw a host of district level programs and services including Alternate Language Services, Youth in Custody, Gifted and Talented Education, Indian Education, Health Services, Section 504, and Emergency Services. Before her years in educational administration, Dr. Forrest was a classroom teacher.

Sheila Tart-Zelvin Marketing Director

Sheila received her Bachelor's of Science degree in Marketing from Trinity University in San Antonio, TX. She has worked in the mental health field for 25 years and has a multi-level portfolio of experience in national marketing for wilderness programs, therapeutic programs, residential treatment centers, recovery and transition programs. Sheila was also a pioneer in the industry for facilitating parent support groups across the state of Texas. She enjoys developing business systems and creating new opportunities for program growth.

Sheila began the ever growing and popular Coffee Break for networking amongst programs, professionals and colleagues in Utah and it now extends nationwide. She loves her coffee, her two grown daughters, her two little dogs Laila Bean and Harper, hiking, art, reading, and shopping in airports!

Millie Anderson Admissions Coordinator

Millie has been in the adolescent treatment field for over 25 years and has found her true passion in assisting families in need. Her experience began with outdoor behavioral healthcare and has taken her from client relations and guiding families through the initial transition of becoming a "program parent" to serving as an admissions counselor and admissions director for both outdoor and residential treatment programs.

"My role is to give space for parents to feel validated in their pain as we gather the necessary information and documentation we need, and to provide a path for families for healing, growth, and change. I do what I do because I love helping people. There is a goodness in all of the young people that we serve and we need to remind them of that."

Family is at the top of Millie's list of "hobbies". You will likely find Millie with her husband trying to catch up to their daughter and two married sons, along with their four adorable grandchildren. When she is not chasing her kids, Millie loves spending time on the golf course, baking yummy treats, taking last minute road trips, and enjoying empty-nest life.

Annette Oliaie Family Services Supervisor

Annette is the liaison between families and professionals working to enroll students at Three Points Center. With over 30 years of experience in the Residential Treatment arena, Annette interfaces with state and local entities ensuring compliance and quality for Three Points Center.
