THREE SPRINGS

Three Springs Augusta, Augusta, GA

Who We Are

Does your child have significant drug abuse problems and exhibit socially inappropriate value systems, poor judgement, irresponsible behavior, lack of self-discipline and a lack of respect for others? If so, Three Springs' Augusta Alcohol and Drug Treatment Program will provide him with comprehensive, challenging and safe services. Three Springs Augusta is operated exclusively for the State of Georgia Department of Juvenile Justice, and serves adjudicated male adolescents who have been committed to this Department by a Juvenile Court Judge.

How We Help

Boys in our care benefit from a highly structured and intense program geared towards the development of responsibility, discipline, self-esteem, pro-social values and healthy work ethics.

Proven Program that Provides Essential Elements

- exemplary education
- positive peer culture
- organized physical activities
- strong therapeutic component

To this end we use the Balanced and Restorative Justice Approach and the Seven Pillars of Character. This program provides high quality individualized care designed to develop your child's accountability and competency, thereby making your family, your home and your community a safe and healthy place.

We use natural and logical consequences to hold our youth accountable for their actions and to help them develop personal responsibility and community awareness. We also provide our residents with skills that will make them productive citizens and thus reduce recidivism rates.

We believe in a healthy balance between discipline and work assignments and we emphasize this with respect, fairness and a caring staff.

Substance Abuse Treatment

The central focus of our substance abuse treatment is identifying and understanding the behavioral, psychological and situational factors that lead to irrational thinking, unacceptable behaviors and substance dependence. Change in your childis cognitive process results in a more appropriate set of behaviors.

The traditional Twelve Steps have been adapted for our treatment. This relapse-prevention model assumes that adolescents are capable of change and that behavior results from conscious choice. It emphasizes the role of alternative problem solving, establishing more appropriate social skills and moral and spiritual awareness.

Who We Help

In general, our program is designed primarily for residents who are not repeat offenders, whose legal charges are related to alcohol and drug issues, who do not have a history of violence, who are not psychologically unstable and who are cognitively able to complete the program.
